

SYNTHETIC HOPE

Crew & Cast Introduction Deck

Created by Chris Hinton

What Is It?

Logline: In a future where corporations control faith and human bodies are reprogrammed like software, a young woman searching for her sister discovers an alien intelligence trapped in a forgotten machine — and is forced to make a choice that could reshape humanity.

Synthetic Hope is a grounded, character-driven sci-fi series in the spirit of Andor and Children of Men. The tone is gritty, emotional, and personal — with an undercurrent of high-concept mystery and deep world lore.

Visual Tone

The look combines grounded sci-fi realism with harsh lighting, industrial decay, and subtle futuristic tech. References include: Children of Men, District 9, Blade Runner 2049, and Black Mirror.

(Reference only — not owned)

(Reference only — not owned)

(Reference only — not owned)

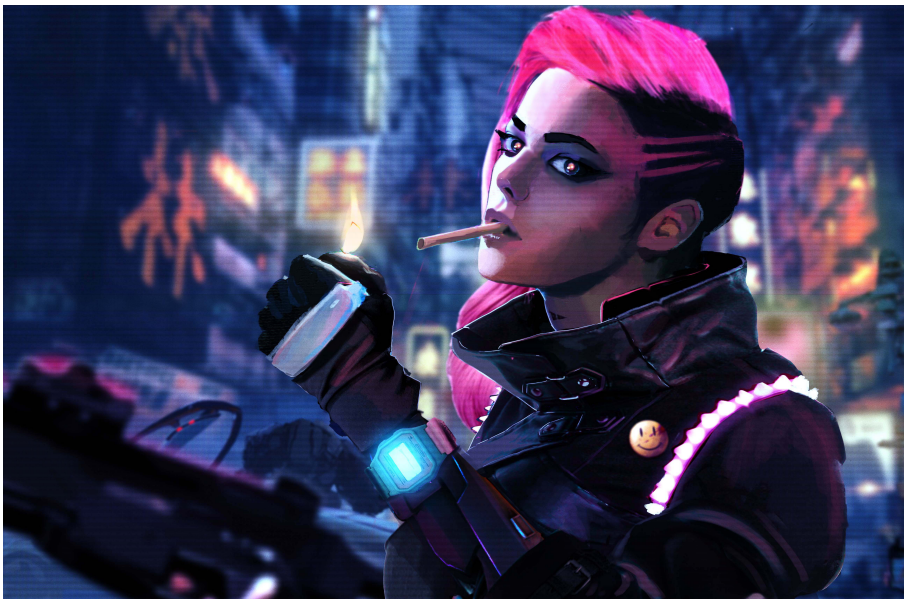

Key Characters

V – A street-smart orphan searching for her missing sister. Reluctant heroine who forms a bond with the alien AI.

Ayla – V's older sister, once enslaved by a brothel network. Rescued but broken. Eventually joins the enemy.

Virus – A rogue operative who survived first contact with the AI. Jealous, bitter, and deeply dangerous.

Merchant – A black-market tech broker who cages V and holds the AI in secret.

(Reference only — not owned)

Why We're Making This

This is a low-budget, self-financed proof of concept. The goal is to capture the tone, performance, and world-building power of the full series in a short visual sample — for pitching to networks or investors.

Everyone contributing will be credited, fed, provided with footage for their reel, and given priority consideration for paid roles in the full production.

We're looking for: actors, DPs, camera operators, production designers, sound, ADs, editors, and anyone with a passion for grounded sci-fi.

Want to Join?

If the tone, story, and style speak to you — let's talk. Contact: Chris Hinton

Email: 4chrishinton@gmail.com

Instagram: @chrishinton4.0